After nearly 26 days of continual travel, the Maxwell 10,000-mile nontravel, the Maxwell 10,000-mile hor-stop car finished its gruelling trip last Monday afternoon. It brought to an end a performance which a while ago few thought could be accomplished, when the car started out of Boston on March 18 for a run of 10,000 miles without once stooning the engine. without once stopping the engine.

For 606 hours and 21 minutes the engine bad ceaselessly performed its functions, not once in all that time ocfunctions, not once in all that time occasioning the least bit of trouble, doling everything it was called upon to do, accomplishing a feat never before attempted, one that a few weeks before was thought impossible. However, it was an engine test that was made, one that was satisfactory in every respect, a test never before attempted and one that is hardly likely to be equaled in a great many years, if ever. While on the run there was used 758 gallons of gasoline, 119 gallons of oil and 17 pounds of grease.

There were made in all 156 round trips in and out of Boston, the runs being to Worcester, Newburyport, being to Worcester, Newburyport, Framingham, Mariboro, Nashua N. H., and Providence, making an average of about 65 miles to the round trip.

In addition to proving all that the Maxwell company has claimed for its engine, the run proved the reliability of the car and bearings in general, in fact, the all cound stability of the car. M. B. Ring is the local desier in this car. See adv.

Judge Buskirk was for many years prominent in the civil and political life of his state, serving as attorney general of Indana and occupying many other positions of distinction. "Saved by the Wireless," Big Moving Picture of the Republic Disaster.

Out of the whole hill of attractions offered by the Breed theater this week not one is more exciting or more intresting than the realistic picture of the steamer Republic's collision with the Florida, off Cape Cod. All of the accurate details are clearly shown, from the wireless signal of distress (C. Q. D.) to the thrilling rescue by the steamer Baitle. This marvelous picture shows the collision of the boats in the fog. the panic on board of the Republic, the saving of the passengers, then the sinking of the Republic, as seen from the Baltic under the searchights. This is the picture that is causing so much talk about town, and well it might, for it has no equal in its line. The Skipper's Daughters is a very into resting stern of the son, in which the entire action with few exshich the entire action with few ex-eptions are hild on shipboard, while be thrill of the drama and the charm of the sea are eleverly mingled.

The Politician's Love Story, is a very bright comedy picture, and represents a politician as being carica ured in the daily papers, much to his displeasure, whereupon he sets out to bunish the cartoonist, and with pistol punish the cartoonist, and with pistol in hand he lands at the newspaper office, with blood in his eye. He is much chagrined, when he discovers that the cartoonist is a very pretty young lady, with whom it is an easy matter to fall in love at sight. He returns home only to find that he is culturing the love germ, and is not satisfied until he finds her again and wins her. The Golden Louis is a pathetic story of old Paris, showing the city on Fere day, while the comedy is abundantly supplied by the bright pictures, Tag day, and Bring Me Some Ice.

A packed house greeted the performance last evening, everyone imroving the opportunity to witness less great pictures. Madame Morelle is continuing her access with her charming song, "The liss," also with the pretty illustrated ong, "By the Old Oak Gate," Mr. Delaney winning great applause with his child song, "There's Another Picture in My Mamma's Frame." SUNDAY SUBJECTS.
